RESEARCHING SOMEONE FROM THE WEST INDIES WHO DIED IN THE FIRST WORLD WAR - GUIDANCE SHEET

This bitesize guide is designed to help you research someone from the West Indies who died in the First World War. Firstly, you will need to decide who you will research... this might be a relative, or you could choose a name from a local war memorial, or you might select a name from a Commonwealth War Graves (CWGC) headstone in one of our cemeteries, or within a parish churchyard local to you.

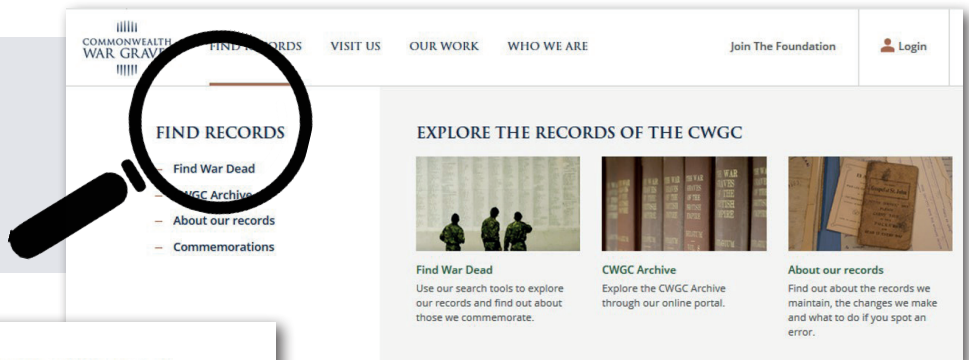

The first stage of your research starts with the Commonwealth War Graves Commission Casualty Database. At CWGC, we keep a record of the place of burial or commemoration of all the men and women of the Britain and Commonwealth who died in the First and Second World Wars.

Be aware,

CWGC records don't always include details about where an individual was from, or exactly where they died. Our records are centred around where a person is buried or commemorated.

If you have not found who you are looking for, you can refine the results

If you think you have found the person you are looking for, select 'More details' and you will get an at-a-glance record

Did you know...?

Wherever possible, the relatives of a casualty were offered the opportunity to have a small, personal inscription listed on their headstone.

If known, the Additional Info can include next of kin details and address

If the person you are looking for has a CWGC headstone, you will find any personal inscription engraved upon it listed here.

Lower down the page you will find a link to our CWGC Archives and any additional information which is held about this individual. You can find several different types of official CWGC reports here. Find out more about these on page 3.

What are Headstone Reports?

These provide details of what is inscribed on an individual's headstone. The main purpose of these reports was to help manage the enormous programme of headstone production and engraving embarked by CWGC during the world wars.

What are Grave Registration Reports (GRRs)?

These forms detail the graves we are responsible for within a particular burial site. Each grave is listed by Plot, Row and Grave number. These reports often provide basic details of the individual such as their name, service number, rank, regiment, unit and date of their death, when known to us.

What are Concentration Reports?

These record details of individuals who were originally buried in smaller or isolated cemeteries, but who, at a later date, were exhumed and reburied in 'concentrated' war cemeteries. This enabled CWGC to fully commemorate and look after otherwise unmaintainable graves.

Further down on your search page you can find more details about the cemetery where the person you are looking for is buried, or the memorial upon which they are commemorated.

Did you know...?

The CWGC maintains more than 200 memorials across the globe. These record nearly 700,000 names of those who have no known grave, were buried at sea or cremated

Step 2: Exploring additional resources to find out more about the individual

You need to check if there are any the Enquiry Files held by the CWGC Archives <http://archive.cwgc.org>. These contain correspondence between the family of those killed and the Commission. Only a small number of these files still survive.

Enquiry Files cover a range of subjects, including:

- Attempts to locate a missing individual
- Requests for the remains of a casualty to be returned to the country they came from, known as the 'repatriation of remains'
- The addition of a personal inscription to a CWGC headstone
- Requests for a photograph of a grave
- Issues about the maintenance or upkeep of a grave
- The exhumation and reburial of a casualty
- The return of wooden crosses to families

Did you know...?

The Imperial War Graves Commission was founded in 1917. Before that, an army unit, Directorate of Graves Registration and Enquiries (DGRE) began the work of recording details of those who had died

Step 3: Searching for additional information online

A Street Near You uses maps to locate where those who died in the First World War originally came from and where they are now commemorated. You can search by lots of different terms so see what you can discover. It also provides links to other archives.

The West India Committee have several resources available to assist you in discovering more about those from the West Indies who served. Visit the download section to find the rolls of those who died from the West India and British West Indies Regiment. The Archive hold many useful resources including the War Diary of the British West Indies Regiment.

The IWMs Lives of the First World War website is a memorial to those who served in the First World War. Enter the name and service number of the person you are searching for to get the best results. Many stories were added during the First World War Centenary. You might even find a photo!

Step 4: Share their story on For Evermore

For Evermore: Stories of the Fallen is our new online resource to collect and share the stories of the men and women CWGC commemorates. If your research reveals more about the person than CWGC already knows, please add your person's story to our growing digital stories archive where it will live for evermore.

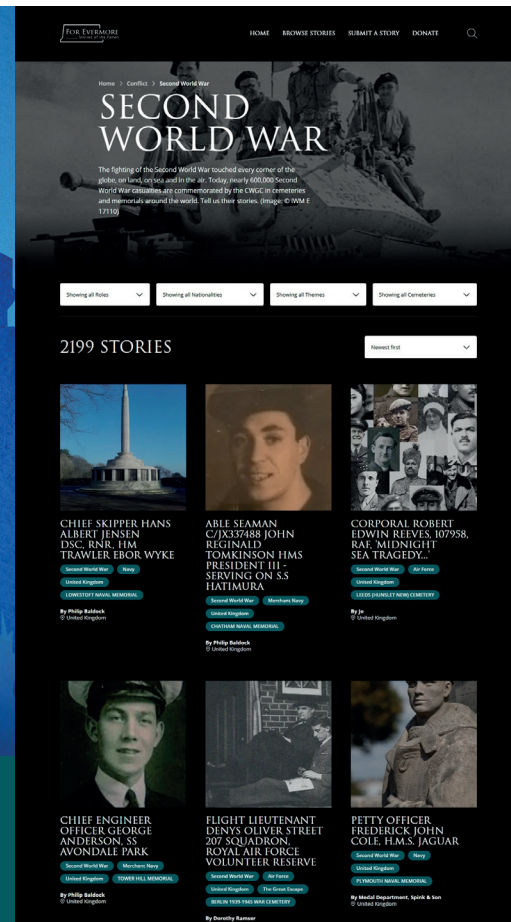

Has someone already shared something about the person you're researching?

Maybe another person from their battalion, ship, squadron, cemetery or memorial has a story?

Need inspiration before writing up your own story to share?

EVERY STORY FOR EVERMORE

The screenshot shows the 'For Evermore' website interface. At the top, there's a navigation bar with links: HOME, BROWSE STORIES, SUBMIT A STORY, and DONATE. Below this, a large banner features the title 'SECOND WORLD WAR' in large, bold letters, with a subtitle: 'The fighting of the Second World War touched every corner of the globe, on land, on sea and in the air. Today, nearly 800,000 Second World War Servicemen are commemorated by our CWGC in cemeteries and memorials around the world. Tell us these stories. (Image: © IWM F 12119)'. Below the banner are four filter buttons: 'Showing all Roles', 'Showing all Nationalities', 'Showing all Themes', and 'Showing all Cemeteries'. The main content area is titled '2199 STORIES' and displays a grid of story cards. Each card includes a thumbnail image, a title, a brief description, and a 'Read More' link. The cards are organized by role and nationality. For example, the first row includes 'CHIEF SKIPPER HANS ALBERT JENSEN', 'ABLE SEAMAN C/I X37488 JOHN REGINALD TOMKINSON', and 'CORPORAL ROBERT EDWIN REEVES'. The second row includes 'CHIEF ENGINEER OFFICER GEORGE ANDERSON', 'FLIGHT LIEUTENANT DENYS OLIVER STREET', and 'PETTY OFFICER FREDERICK JOHN COLE'. The third row includes 'TOWER HILL MEMORIAL', 'THE GREAT FRIDGE', and 'PILGRIMS HALL MEMORIAL'. The bottom of the page features a footer with the text 'By Philip Batech' and '© United Kingdom'.
